The School of Global Policy and Strategy (GPS) at UC San Diego is an interdisciplinary, discovery-driven graduate school focusing on international affairs and public policy. We offer an original and rigorous approach to policy, as our goal is to create global policy solutions that matter — from climate change to food security, democracy, migration, human rights, security and much more. At
GPS, students learn from world-class professors while surrounded by a diverse body of students from all walks of life, creating a global, holistic classroom experience in our degree programs. And our San Diego location gives us the freedom to seek progress untethered from tradition and lean into the power of the Pacific Coast as a hub of innovation, diversity and proactive problem-solving. From here, you can make an impact anywhere.

Stay in the Know!

We are pleased to announce the launch of the official news website for GPS, gpsnews.ucsd.edu. The new site is specially designed to tell the remarkable stories coming out of GPS, as our faculty, students and alumni seek to change the world for the better. Learn about the current research underway and see what life looks like at GPS today.

The site was created with a modern, sleek design, easy sharing and extensive search capabilities. In addition to reading the latest stories, you can search the archive and filter by keywords, categories and more. This new site also allows you to easily print, email and share stories across social media platforms, allowing us better connect with each other.